Insurance for city obtained

Granite City has acquired workmen's compensation insurance coverage through the state workers' risk pool at a cost of $37,688 per year. City Council members were told in a regular meeting Tuesday night.

Alderman Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward, chairman of the council's Finance Committee, said the insurance has been assigned by the Industrial Commission of Illinois to the Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Co. of Chicago as carrier.

The new coverage was received after a three-day period last week in which the city was without compensation insurance because of the necessity of revising an application to the ICI which had been returned to the city's failure to designate an "agent of record" in its original record.

A proposal by Granite City to build an overpass spanning the railroad tracks between the downtown area and West Granite City has been classified by the Illinois and U.S.

Departments of Transportation as a "non-major action" it was announced today by Mayor Paul Schuler.

The decision was given the city Wednesday afternoon by Lionel Woods, a Springfield, Ill., regional representative of the U.S. Department of Transportation in a meeting at the Illinois State Highway District office in Fairview Heights, the mayor said.

Representing Granite City at the meeting were City Engineer Monroe Brewer and Howard

Dillon and Aaron Pierson, representatives of the M.W. Architects and Engineers, St. Louis planning and engineering firm which is handling engineering and design plan-

State approves hospital sewer

A permit has been approved by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for installation of new sanitary sewer lines as part of the $18 million expansion program at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Granite City Council members learned Tuesday night.

A notice received by the aldermen during their regular meeting said that the permit authorizes the contractor to construct, install and operate sanitary sewer lines to serve the hospital area.

Specifically, the permit authorizes construction of 115 linear feet of six-inch sewer line, 155 feet of eight inch sewer line and 160 feet of 12-inch line, and to construct three manholes.

To serve the hospital, the permits states, the manholes will serve sewer connections to the proposed new psychiatry building, the medical records facility and the boiler plant, the permit states.

Also authorized are connections with the 72-inch Granite City combined sewer at Iowa Street and Niedringhaus Avenue as a tributary to the city's sewage treatment plant.

Reception of the permit by EPA follows a notice received by the city in late February requiring a revision or some parts of the permit application to EPA.

The notice said that the sewer installations would not constitute a violation of anti-pollution regulations. A revision of the application was completed by the city engineering department to comply.

Council members also agreed Tuesday night to call new bids for the replacement of the Lockhaven Drive to replace the present station which has been malfunctioning in handling sewage from the Archer Daniels Midland soybean plant.

Council members also agreed to be rehired for the fall, the Granite City Board of Education voted Tuesday night to "honorably dismiss" 63 teachers who have not yet attained tenure status in the district.

The dismissal of teachers has been necessitated

by the fact that many teachers law requiring teachers to be notified 60 days before the end of the school year if they are not to be retained in the upcoming school year.

Because the district is unable to determine at this time its exact staffing needs for the upcoming school year, it was decided to follow the past practice of notifying all non-tenure

teachers in the district and then hiring them back as staffing needs become clear.

Last year, 61 teachers were honorably dismissed, but 32 were not actually hired during the summer. In 1975, a total of 35 honorable dismissals

were approved by the board with most being retired.

In addition to the 63 teachers honorably dismissed Tuesday night, a nurse and teacher were also honorably dismissed

from the Title I program; nine employees retired; five others resigned from their extracurricular activities.

The resolution honorably dismissing the teachers noted

the number of teachers required for educational purposes is expected to be 110 in the 1977-78 school year and that state law required teachers be given notice 60 days or more before the close of the school year.

"It is therefore resolved by the Board of Education that the administrator shall cause to be sent out notices to honorably terminate the requisite number of teachers for the school year

1977-78 to reduce the teaching staff to a level adequate to meet educational purposes," the resolution stated.

The board also honorably dismissed a nurse and a teacher

both employed with the federally funded Title I program. Cutbacks in the program, including abolishing

two positions, were approved by the board at its February meeting.

In other business, the board accepted with regrets nine retirements. Retiring are:

Robert Hall, Prather English teacher; Ronald Weiss, Coolidge Industrial Arts; Anne Staicoff, Nameoki cafeteria worker; Loretta Ray, Marshall cafeteria; Fred Boyer, cafeteria at Clegg; John Schell, South; Pauline Reading, Niedringhaus cafeteria; Gisella Myers, South cafeteria; Esther Grammer, GCHS North cafeteria; and Carol Horvat, Wilson, special education.

Also accepted with regrets are the resignations of Mary Biennicki, Spanish teacher at Coolidge; Dorothy Gilles, art teacher; and special education teacher; Randy Biggerstaff, health teacher at GCHS North; Marie Robertson, leave from Grigsby, and Margarette Roody, also leaving to live in Florida.

Biggerstaff, who also served at the athletic trainer for the Teetor comments, "When I initially ran for township office I felt that local government could be more responsive to the needs of the people and I could in some measure respond to those needs."

"I feel that much progress has been made, but only the surface has been scratched compared to what can be done."

"With additional funds available through revenue sharing, a community Development funds, Manpower programs, etc., and with proper administration, good leadership and full cooperation among elected officials, much can be accomplished."

"It is important to inspire greater citizen participation in order to respond to the needs which are most important to them and to establish priorities."

"I have served two years as a town auditor and six years as clerk. As Town Clerk, I have implemented many of my own ideas along with the recommendations of the CPA auditing firm to establish more comprehensive accounting systems for all funds."

"In addition, budget reports and statistics are prepared semi-monthly to provide the Town Board with the necessary fund and budget information. Also, broader and more detailed financial systems have been established."

He is running on the United for Progress Party.

Louis "Cookie" Zezoff Jr., 35, of 89 Cambridge Drive, is a candidate for town clerk on the Continued Action Party ticket in Nameoki Township.

He and his wife, Rosemary, have one son, Nicholas.

Comments, "I am seeking the office of town clerk of Nameoki because I have the qualifications and the time necessary to devote to the office."

"The office of town clerk is the keeper of records, books and papers of the town, Road District and must be supervised daily to give proper service."

"The present clerk has no time during the township hours to devote to his duties."

"My pledge to the people of Nameoki Township is to serve them daily in any way that is most convenient to the public."

"With my experience in local government and record keeping, I believe that harmony and service can be promoted for the people of Nameoki," Zezoff concludes.

Madison Future Secretaries panel on employment

Larry Siedner, president of Siedner Supply, John Bellcoff, vice-president at First National Bank in Madison, and Alicia M. Hughes, employment counselor at Illinois State Employment Service, 1220 Clearfield Street, were guest speakers at the Madison High School Future Secretaries Association March meeting.

Each panelist briefly spoke on his/her job, and then gave the students some important factors when entering the business world, and also attempting to get the first job. Miss Hughes cautions the students not to rely on their memories when going for job interviews, but take along necessary information with them: name, address, telephone number, references, work records, etc. It would show the interviewer that the individual had come prepared, which is a good quality. She mentioned that their office gives civil service tests in the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Siedner stated that neatness, promptness, friendliness, and being qualified for the job headed the list of characteristics in an applicant and in a worker. John Bellcoff, speaking as a former member of the board of education for over 17 years, and as a citizen and worker in the city of Madison, told the students, "you have never had to go out and sell any or our students who had commercial courses; they have a good reputation of being among the best." He agreed with Siedner that basically it is the promptness, being courteous, being neat about the work and about themselves, and the ability to smile instead of frown that impressed him. He said that at their bank, they stress friendliness.

Serving as moderator for the panel was Mrs. Charlise

Vunovic, chairman of the FSA committee for the Tri-Cities chapter, who also extended an invitation to the girls to details of the day that were to be held in the offices of Boatmen's Bank, First National Bank in St. Louis, and Merriam on Thursday, April 28, during Secretaries Week.

Legalize plastic pipe for home construction

Effective Friday, April 1, licensed plumbers and contractors will be able to use plastic pipe in residential construction in Madison County.

Plastic pipe, allowed by the state for several years but never used here, now holds in Madison County may be used after April 1, if it is rated "ABS or PVC-DWV schedule 40" or superior, according to new county regulations.

The regulations require that clamping rings will be prohibited and that plastic pipe must be installed and connected with solvent. Paul T. Hawkins, the county's building, environmental and zoning administrator explained.

He also noted that if the county finds the plastic pipe or installation procedures not acceptable, modifications or bans could be ordered in the future.

The regulations require that

Skubish is employed by the Granite City Community Unit School District as science teacher at Fraher Junior High and an assistant coach at North High School.

During the wrestling season, he is an official for high school and college wrestling matches in Missouri and Illinois.

Skubish received an honorable discharge from the Army in 1968 and is currently a member of the American Legion Post 204.

Thomas J. Skubish is a Nauvoo Parent-Teacher Association, he is the father of Richard, 11, and Heather, seven.

He has participated in civic organizations throughout his adult life.

He says he has been interested in municipal government for many years, and is optimistic about the opportunities for community growth.

Skubish comments, "I believe that progress is the result of the combined efforts of many people. One man can do very little on his own."

"It goes without saying that our city has many problems. We must cooperate to improve and build a creative city government."

As alderman, one of my goals would be to see improved traffic control. I would like to see an evaluation made on the current practice of using stop signs for speed control in residential areas.

"I am interested in joining forces with city leaders in attracting more business and industry to Granite City."

The candidate, who resides at 4309 Hillside Drive, adds, "I would also like to examine and evaluate some creative ideas that would stimulate the economy and improve the appeal of the downtown area."

"I feel that our city can be alive and active once more, and I am interested in working to that end."

"The Seventh Ward has areas that need attention. There are specific areas plagued with drainage problems."

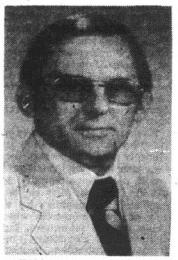

"One street in the ward has had plans laid for curbs and gutters for four years, and yet still no plans or gutters."

"There are problems with buses travelling down streets that are too narrow, and bus riders using residential areas as parking lots."

"There are some of the matters that need attention. I would like to devote my time, energy and ability to helping find solutions to some of these problems."

"With creativity, cooperation and mutual respect, solutions can be found."

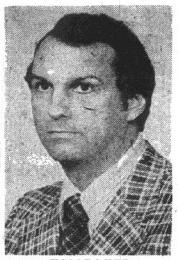

Four running in 7th Ward

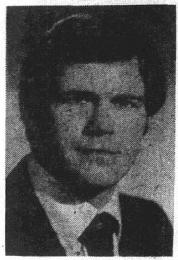

THOMAS J. SKUBISH

GEORGE M. GORDON

TOM BOKER

PAUL RAY BOWLER

A former Seventh Ward alderman (1969-73), Tom Boker is running for that office April 5.

He reports, "My wife, Fern, four children, Tom, Tracey, Joan and Julie, and I live at 10 Bermuda Lane. We are members of Grace Baptist Church."

"I have been employed as a computer specialist by the Department of the Army, Army Aviations Systems Command, for the past four years."

"I am a veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps."

Boker comments, "The reasons for my candidacy are as follows:

"Personal responsibility. There is a need to hold the line whenever we budget our tax dollars. We should get our money's worth anything the city ever spends."

"The past four years, our city took an unnecessary beating on sewer repairs by contracting with a contractor who had a poor record."

"Our federal revenue sharing money could be put to better use, on much-needed projects, not on recurring expenses."

"City growth. We have experienced no city growth during the last four years. The only increase in the Seventh Ward from 1973 to 1977 has been due to two new liquor establishments which were opposed by the neighborhood. This is a good idea, but we feel should be preparing and planning drainage that will be needed."

"A good example is Maryville Road. This road could have been dedicated to relieve the Nauvoo dredge ditch at the same time it improves our traffic conditions."

"Streets, curbs and gutters. Our city should discontinue engineering standards for improvement that we don't have the money to do the actual improvement."

"We have enough engineering completed on our city streets to start engineering going for years. But we do not have the money to do the work."

"In summary we need city aldermen who are able to save our tax dollars from waste and corruption, and a vision for our future, while administering to our needs."

Paul Ray Bowler, seeking election as an alderman of Ward Seven, is a lifelong resident of Granite City.

The son of Roger and Agnes Bowler, he was educated in the public schools here and attended Saint Louis University at Edwardsville, receiving a bachelor of arts degree in sociology and social welfare and a master of arts degree in education.

His achievements in the field of education enabled him to join Kappa Delta Pi, the national honor society in education.

Currently employed as a guidance counselor at Granite City High School North, Bowler has served as an advisor on juvenile delinquency for Madison-St. Clair County social service.

He serves as City Council as the most important position in city government.

"The decisions made by the city government reflect the direction and progress of the city," Bowler comments.

"Being an independent candidate, I feel I can work with all political factions for the betterment of the community. I want to see more meetings with the people in the ward, not only to inform them of what is going on in the City Council, but to ask for their opinions and ideas for the future of this city."

"A vote for me will be a vote for the people."

He resides at 1619 Pontoon Road.

Rent subsidies

The Madison County Housing Authority will begin accepting applications for the Section 8 Rent Subsidy Program at 8 p.m. Monday, March 20, at Northgate Recreation Center, 80 Burlington Drive, Collinsville. Local site offices will be established in the near future to accommodate interested applicants in other areas of the county.

Applications for the program are open to all residents of Madison County who currently rent their homes and qualify according to their income and family size.

The program will supply rent subsidies directly to landlords of open-market housing in Madison County on behalf of eligible applicants.

Rental units within the city limits of Alton and Granite City are not eligible, because the authority has no jurisdiction within these two cities. Other areas of Madison County are eligible, including rural areas.

The program is limited in size. Early application by interested persons is strongly encouraged, because selection for the program is on a first-come first-serve basis according to the program's needs for marrying family compositions and varying areas of the county. To apply, applicants must list their family income and family size. Additional deductions may be given for extraordinary medical bills, which must also be verified by bringing in the bill or a canceled check. No applications will be taken without the proper verification it was explained.

Many landlords have contacted the County Authority regarding the program. The Authority encourages any interested person to call the central office (345-5142) for additional information.

Hair spray

that fluorocarbons may be depleting the earth's ozone layer, last year the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) proposed that nonessential uses of fluorocarbon propellants be phased out.

And vanity is decidedly nonessential. (Morality would phrase it more strongly than that.)

Motels of deodorants and hair sprays have gone back to the lab. Already, pump-type products have one-fourth of the hair spray market.

In industry, this is no time for cattlemen.

According to the authoritative research firm of Maxwell Associates, Richmond, Va., retail sales of women's hair sprays declined every year from $300 million in 1971 to $270 million in 1975, rebounding slightly to $275 million last year.

According to unpublished industry figures, the men's hair spray market plummeted from $50 million to $30 million in the last three years.

Those are dollars, unadjusted for inflation.

In units (cans), the women's hair spray market dropped off three per cent last year, two per cent in 1975 and a whopping 14 per cent in 1976.

This has been a blast of fad air for several big companies.

"What will happen?" I believe the market will continue to decline for awhile," said Spiegel, whose father founded the firm.

Said an executive of one of the industry's larger companies:

"This is certainly not a growth industry, but it's been around for a long time and isn't going away any time soon."

The top executive of a smaller company, for one, says he is convinced the industry's downward-undulating sales curve won't become a permanent way of life.

"Since the beginning of time, there have been grooming products. The Egyptians had balms, ointments, methods of holding hair in place," said Richard G. Spiegel, president of Minneapolis' La Maur, Inc.

Unlike some competitors, La Maur is more in cosmetics and mostly hair products.

"When long hair is in vogue, we're in business. When short hair is in vogue, we're not doing well. Shampoo do better," said Spiegel, whose father founded the firm.

By early last year, La Maur had converted its hair spray line to nonfluorocarbons — the first to do so, he said.

Candidates see city progress as inspiring or as insufficient

(First of two articles) Granite City mayor candidates have debated campaign issues before citizens in general, and before citizens who are Democrats, as well as voicing their views at other gatherings.

It is traditional for opponents to see the issues differently and they are doing so this year — taking contrasting stands.

An example is the major extension of the Mayville Road, now in progress.

Mayor Paul Schuler sees it as a "proud accomplishment."

Daniel Partney agrees it is an improvement, but asks why it wasn't built sooner.

He suggests that it was about a long time ago, anyway.

The mayor says there were many hidden problems that had to be overcome through skilled and tireless effort.

The challenger implies that so many potential hazards arise from such a four-lane trip that it makes the whole issue a "minus" rather than a "plus" on the incumbent's scorecard.

The mayor says adequate safety work will be provided well in advance of opening the new section of Mayville Road. His rival doubts it.

On this and other topics, it is a fundamental clash between an official who "points to pride" and a "would-be official" who "looks to the past record with alarm."

It is said to be easier to attack than to defend, which may give Partney an advantage from a tactical standpoint.

Possibly, Mayor Schuler can cite specific accomplishments in the office that is being contested at the April election, while his foe can only describe what he believes it would be like if he became mayor.

An added factor is that Partney is running unopposed, held by the late father for eight years prior to the election of Mayor Schuler four years ago.

When they debate how far along a particular project was in April, it is not whether the industry came or left before or after that time; they are trying to establish that a gain or loss for Granite City was part of the Schuler era, or Partney era.

Of course, no two projects are alike, and the challenger does not bring to the campaign exactly the same qualities as the 1965-73 mayor.

Nor is the present chief executive of the city unchanged from when he first ran for mayor. And four years have wrought some changes in the citizenry they seek to represent.

Strikingly similar, however, is the relationship of the mayor and council — and division of power.

Cashes was frequent in the past, a proposal backed or opposed by one faction was likely to attract an opposite response from the other faction.

Mayor Schuler and current aldermen like each other, and function together cooperatively as the two legislative branches.

Daniel Partney acknowledges that this is true but says mistakes can occur when there is a degree of unanimity. He would rather see council sessions, he said during debate.

Partney says the negative issue attracting the most attention is Partney's expressed view that council sessions are a shameful disgrace, causing embarrassment for the city if out-of-towners happen to visit.

Most aldermen are outraged at such a comment and say it is utterly false.

They cite some observers' opinions that council sessions have proceeded in an orderly, efficient manner during the past several years, winning compliments from members of the press, who recalled past years.

Partney indicates awareness that he and the council probably would get along well enough, if not always amicably, in each other's working conditions in each ward and also says he would lean strongly on citizen committees to help back his stands at council meetings.

Nearly all Granite City aldermen favor Mayor Schuler for re-election.

The chief positive issue is the listing of achievements which, in the mayor's opinion, would be right to campaign promises. Partney disagrees with the claim, and the challenger says he will limit his campaign pledge to his stand at council meetings.

Partney notes that federal funding may be a one-time occurrence and says that, if he is elected, the department will be disbanded and the ambulance service will be awarded to a private firm.

It would not be the Thomas business-in-politics debating involves the Partney family's participation in mortuary and ambulance services.

Daniel Partney openly criticizes the way the city's participants underook to provide its new ambulance service, and his associates to a degree are seeking to compete with the city for some phases of the ambulance business.

Partney responds by saying the chief ambulance firm in existence this winter "dumped" the problem on the city, and the city has set a date after which it would stop providing full-scale service.

The mayor notes widespread praise for the way in which the City Council and mayor's office met the challenge by providing, through a joint committee basis, a fully-equipped and trained ambulance staff in cooperation with the Granite City fire department and federal Manpower program.

The caliber and effectiveness of the city's teamwork with others have received the commendation of the families of two youths hurt severely by a train on the first night the city's emergency medical technicians were on duty.

Friends of Daniel Partney label the mayor "a member of the Democratic machine in Madison County." They call him an "aggressive campaigner" and imply that he is a citizen-oriented, almost non-political candidate.

Meanwhile, friends of Paul Schuler say that a Partney campaign can hardly be viewed as anti-political in nature when it is supported by the Thomas firm, with which he is associated, he told those attending a public debate.

These, of course, are not the only issues on which there are "two sides of a coin."

Partney has added perspective as chairman of the Bi-State Development Agency and his role as a member of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council are credited by his supporters.

Most of the organized Republicans appear to be seeking Partney. Of course, Democrats far outnumber the GOP here.

Both major candidates claim business support. Only Mayor Schuler's campaign has been endorsed by the Tri-City Times and Labor Council, AFL-CIO.

The debate held at Granite City High School South, Partney was asked by a woman in the audience, "Do you promise me a job if and when you are elected, through one of your committee?"

Partney responded, "Did you hear me personally? I can't make promises for what someone else might say."

A man then asked Partney, "How could you fire treatment plant employees?"

Partney responded, "The statement has never been made that we would fire anyone in order to better our city's financial condition."

Partney told the gathering, "I see a lot of problems — spot zoning and no planned growth program. This is why we have

"We have had a tremendous increase in federal and state funds that have allowed us to better our city's financial condition," he said.

Partney said that he would establish "new ideas, visions and fresh approaches" to more citizen participation and the people need to be informed. I plan to run a regular column in the local newspaper on what is being done.

"I plan to go back to getting people involved in their government."

"Our corporate limits have not expanded. When water stands too long, it becomes stagnant."

"I see Alton, Collinsville and Fairview Heights progressing with new things. We also can do new things. That's why I got involved."

"Granite City is dear to my heart. I want to be a cleaner, more progressive town — one that other cities would like to copy."

"When you see a candidate with vision and different ideas, go with him. Let the spirit of cooperation to make this a better city for my family and your family," Partney concluded.

Mayor Schuler said in his closing, "Four years ago, in the 1973 campaign, I made 11 promises to the people. I believe we have kept those promises, but I will let you decide."

"I promised to attract new industry. There is the Archer Daniels-Midland $100-million-dollar processing plant and Crossroads Shopping Center."

"I promised to stop economic decay. We have cleaned up many of our old buildings, put them back on the tax rolls. There has been in excess of $8 million in new construction," Mayor Schuler asserted.

"To control pollution, we have a new $15 million waste water treatment plant."

"We feel that our firemen and police have done a tremendous job. We have new fire equipment and new police cars. We have a new police force. The crime rate has decreased in Granite City, when it has increased in other cities."

"new growth and unemployment" as problems which have developed.

"I have many new ideas which have not been tried. That does not make them bad ideas," Partney said.

"I promise to be the hub of the region with our Interstate highways, waterways, rail facilities and other assets."

"He said more citizen involvement would be a key in his administration. Were contracts to be signed under the previous administration, he was asked.

"Partney responded, "I will quote the developer, Mr. Greenberg, who told me in May 1973, 'I am so happy to sit down and talk reasonably with someone in the city administration. He said he had expected to be able to see the previous administration."

The mayor said contracts for Schnuck's, Walgreen's, K-Mart, Leader and many other stores were used during his administration.

Partney's first question to Schuler was whether state or local funds were being used for the $2.5 million street resurfacing program in the city. Mayor Schuler responded that both are being used, and that city funds and motor fuel taxes.

Partney's first question inquired whether he would provide more activities for youths and the elderly and if he would support additional funding for education.

He said he would establish "an office on the aging" which would be responsible for obtaining as many federal and state grants as possible for such programs.

"There are 16 grant entitlements available for senior citizens and we have not used one grant in Granite City," he said.

Partney also said additional housing for senior citizens should be built in the downtown area, replacing decaying buildings and homes.

He said he would support establishment of several teen recreation centers and would form a committee of teenagers and adults to supervise teen programs and seek federal and state grants for such projects.

"He said he is in urging Congress to use their spare time responsibly to 'give them some responsibility.'

Mayor Schuler responded by saying he and his wife have worked together for senior citizens, establishing a senior citizens center, "which every day is packed — morning and night."

He said that noted in the city was the fact that the city building under construction which will contain a new and larger area for senior citizens' activities.

"He said there are about 12 senior citizens' clubs in the city "because the people do not want one big organization. They prefer the smaller clubs," Mayor Schuler commented.

The mayor said the city housing authority recently received an $850,000 grant for new roofs, doors with peepholes, porches and other improvements at Kirkpatrick Homes.

Another grant of a similar amount has been applied for to provide similar improvements at the Anchorage Homes, he said.

Mayor Schuler's next question concerned the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, which he said was an accomplishment of his administration.

He said more citizen involvement would be a key in his administration. Were contracts to be signed under the previous administration, he was asked.

Mr. Greenberg, who told me in May 1973, 'I am so happy to sit down and talk reasonably with someone in the city administration. He said he had expected to be able to see the previous administration."

School building program explained to Rotarians

The second house built by students enrolled in vocational education programs in the two Granite City High Schools will be ready for sale soon, according to Robert Maxwell, director of vocational education at the school.

Maxwell reviewed the vocational program in which technical training is offered in various occupations, cosmetology, health careers, industrial electronics, auto mechanics, drafting machine shop, building trades and welding.

Maxwell said future programs will include building maintenance, heating and air conditioning.

Madison crime shows new decline, council told

For the second consecutive month, major crimes in Madison declined significantly during February, as compared with those of the same month a year ago, Madison Council members were informed in a report Tuesday night.

Chief of Police Fred Dutko told the council that there were 17 less major crimes last month a total of 38 — than there were in February 1976, a reduction of 29 per cent. There were 54 crimes reported during February last year.

Dutko reported that there were three robberies last month, down from 10 a year ago, and two cases, down three; eight burglary cases, down four and three theft cases, down 19.

Of the seven major crime categories, only auto theft increased from three to eight.

The report showed $543 in fines collected in February.

During January there were 25 fewer major crimes reported, or a 20 per cent decline from the same period in 1976.

Bids were opened for a 60 by 105 foot steel fabricated building to be erected adjacent to the city garage on Third Street for the storage of city equipment.

Bids were submitted by Norman Construction Co. of Granite City, $31,500; Better Building of Belvidere, Ill., $25,200; and Troy Building Supply of Troy, $23,259. Building

The bids were accepted as read and referred to the finance committee and superintendent of streets for preparation of a report and recommendation at the next meeting of the council.

Building Inspector John Dutko requested condemnation of a structure at 1319 Iowa St. that he said feels unsafe.

Dutko's request was referred over to the city legal department. The council passed a resolution calling for the election of mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and one alderman from each of the five wards in the city on Tuesday, April 19.

Polling places for the five wards will be: Ward One, City Fire Building, 1327 Third St.; Second Ward, Madison Public Library building, 1700 Fifth St.; Ward Three, Madison Memorial Center, Seventh and Lee streets; Fourth Ward, Trinity Hall building, 1245 Madison Avenue; and Ward Five, West Madison Memorial Center, building 900 W. Washington St.

The polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. on election day.

Mayor Mike Sasyk led a moment of silent prayer in memory of John Schall, 46, of 911 Lee Ave., a manpower employee who worked for the city. He died Tuesday morning.

The council approved $17,500 in Community Development Funds to furnish paint for houses of low-income persons.

Householders are to make requests through their aldermen or at the city hall. It was noted by Mayor Sasyk that priority will be given to low-income senior citizens.

Scuba divers back from Florida Keys

Six members of the Bubblemasters Scuba Diving Club have returned from a diving trip to the Florida Keys, a four-day group dive.

The group dived in the Atlantic Ocean from the 65-foot yacht, Captain Crunch, owned by a former club member.

Making the trip to Florida were Don Adams, Larry Earney, Bill Hodshire, Tom Mueller and Bob and Loretta Burns and daughter, Billie Jean.

Initially, the group dived in various locations adjacent to Sunshine Key and San Pedro Key, and visited Key West.

Adams, Earney, Hodshire and Mueller returned to Key Largo on the Atlantic Ocean side of the Florida Keys, where they boarded the Captain Crunch, owned and operated by Joe Clark, a former Bubblemaster and Alton Masketeer Diving Club member.

The sea temperature was a warm 78 degrees due to the gulfstream currents. Visibility was about 50 feet, considered poor to divers living in the Keys, but more than adequate in the local divers' opinion, they said.

Adams reported seeing a group of fish weighing about 50 pounds each, some larger fish in that area were "tame enough to stroke on their sides."

Underwater photographs of "spectacular coral formations" were taken near the Grand City divers, who dove south of Largo, near the John Pennekamp Coral Reef Underwater State Park, and off Molasses and French Keys.

Not interested in captain, Joe Clark operates four charter boats, including the large yacht which accommodates up to 40 people.

Previously, Clark was a sales representative for the Louis office of Professional Veterinary Services, Inc. He was transferred to the Miami area a few years ago, but later quit the firm to pursue a diving career as a boat service, Adams explained.

Clark and his wife, Mary Ann, a school teacher, are planning to visit members of the Bubblemasters' Club here in June, the local divers reported.

Warrior nine blanked 5-0 by New Athens — 29 years after title

When they met this week, GCHS' Senior baseball Warriors and New Athens had not competed against each other since 1948, when Granite City won 4-1 in the championship game of the state finals. On Monday afternoon, New Athens avenged that loss with a 5-0 shutout over the visiting Seniors.

The season opener for the Warriors saw the contest fall short by one frame of going the regulation distance of seven innings. Stormy weather engrossed the playing field near the bottom of the eighth.

New Athens had tallied four runs in the third and another in the fourth. Warrior hurlers were Tim Kirksey and Tom Mahl.

Pitcher Ken Four got the win for the hosts. Kirksey, relieved in the third by Mahl, was tagged with the loss.

New Athens collected five hits and three walks. The Seniors had three hits — two by Keith Champion and one by Steve Sedabres — and committed one error. The two Warrior hurlers combined to fan eight opposing batters and walk eight.

Ice hockey squads set to defend titles

Twenty boys' ice hockey teams representing Pekin, Decatur, Peoria and Granite City will take to the ice this weekend at the Wilson Park ice rink to do battle for ice hockey titles in the annual tournament.

The meets are being hosted by the Granite City Amateur Ice Hockey Association.

Post-season play for the five "A" teams — Midget Squirt, Peewee, Bantam and Major — starts Saturday and concludes Sunday with consolation and championship contests.

Representing Granite City are Sternberg Construction, C. D. Peters and Plumbing Supplies who are defending champions of their respective tournaments, and P&S Amusement took runners-up honors last year.

On Saturday, consolation bracket games are set for 6, 7, 8-15, 9-30 and 10:45 a.m. for losers of Saturday's contests.

Championship games, for winners of Saturday games, will be played Sunday at 12:15, 1:15, 2:30, 3:45 and 5:15 p.m.

It wasn't football but it was fun; Big Red show basketball ability

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Tuesday night's "Officer Friendly" basketball game in which the city police and firefighters team competed against a select group of St. Louis Cardinals football players was termed "the most successful ever," by Glenn Wright, the Granite City Police Department's Officer Friendly.

As expected, the event, including the Granite City police and firefighters, the Cardinals dominated the game.

By the third quarter, Cardinal Terry Metcalf felt so sorry for the local team that he changed uniforms and played for a period on the side of the firefighters and policemen.

Metcalf's change only yielded two points for the firefighters and policemen, but the Cardinals won the game 84-82.

Skilled play by several well-known Cardinals, including Quarterback Jim Hart, earned the applause of the large audience, but the time again, even though most of those present professed to be fans of the local firefighters and police.

Six Cardinals scored in double figures, led by Lee Nelson with 19 points and Roger Wehrli with 15.

Scoring 10 points each were Hart, Metcalf, Mike Sensibaugh and Terry Joyce.

Hart, who earned seven points and Steve Neils was credited with four points. Ron Yankowski held a defensive posture and scored only on two successful free throws in the first half.

For the local police-fireman team, Fireman Rich Schardan was high scorer with eight points, trailed by Fireman Ed Hagnauer and Junior Mathis and Patrolman Jim Reader with six points each.

Reader suffered a knee injury in the third quarter and had to be taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

After being released from the hospital and rejoining his teammates and the Cardinals, Reader lost consciousness and had to be returned to the hospital where an irregular heartbeat was diagnosed and he was admitted to the intensive care unit.

He was moved Wednesday to another hospital by several doctors and the heartbeat problem probably was an after-effect of his knee injury and is not expected to recur, since there was no heart damage.

Patrolman Fred Hoffman, with five points and Firemen Charles Bernais, Ken Druhe and Ray Romine scored four each. Policeman Roger Hayes tallied three and Patrolman Tom Williams two.

The two points Metcalf scored for the police and firefighter team rounded out the scoring.

Patrolman David Rosenberg stayed on defense for the local team.

Metcalf's basket for the police and firemen was on a long toss from inside the center-court line.

When a timeout was called while Metcalf was in a police and firefighter basketball uniform, he could not decide which uniform to report to, so he ended up sitting in the center of the court until the timeout ended.

He then changed uniform tops and rejoined the Cardinal squad on the floor.

The last quarter was devoted to fun with the Cardinal players showing off long shots, fast breaks and one-handed grabs and tickling the crowd with fun comments, attempting to shoot.

While the city team scored 13 points in the final quarter to 16 for the Cardinals, the other quarters were not as close.

The final score was 24-16, 46-27 and 68-39.

As the final horn sounded, young fans swarmed the floor, seeking autographs of their favorite Cardinal football players.

Civil Defense volunteers on the scene moved the youths into lines and aimed the lines past the score's table, where all of the Cardinals sat and patiently signed autographs until the last fan was satisfied.

Noting the game this year was the most successful "Officer Friendly" contest thus far, Wright said, "This event has been held, Wright estimated that more than $1,300 was raised. It will be used to support youth sports and activities in the Officer Friendly program."

Major Paul Schuler, his outgoing nemesis and welcome before the game, commented before the Officer Friendly program has had a positive effect on young people and on the community.

Noting the game this year was the most successful "Officer Friendly" contest thus far, Wright said, "This event has been held, Wright estimated that more than $1,300 was raised. It will be used to support youth sports and activities in the Officer Friendly program."

Pointed out that 41 sports teams and projects have been sponsored by the Officer Friendly program, supported primarily by proceeds of the annual basketball games.

State willing to change multiplier for coverage.

City officials were notified that its previous carrier of insurance's coverage would not renew the coverage under a policy which expired on March 14. An application to the Industrial Commission for coverage through the state's assigned risk pool was returned for an application by agent.

During the interim in which the city named the Whitman Agency of St. Louis as agent, the city was without coverage.

Coleman said that the premium for coverage was $1,908 over the premium of $35,700 paid to the previous carrier for the compensation claim.

In other action Tuesday night council members placed on file petitions signed by 555 West Granite City residents asking that one of the city's new ambulances be located in West Granite.

The petitions were admitted to the council by Mildred Adams, 2825 Denver, who said that the petitions were being presented at the time Mayor Paul Schler announced last week that one of the city's four new ambulances has been assigned to the city's West Granite City Fire station.

She said that she would like for the petitions to be made a matter of record. The council accepted the petitions and voted to place them on file.

The city's fourth new ambulance unit is expected to arrive within a week. Three of the units, all Dodge Meducruses fully equipped to meet state requirements, arrived last Friday. Until arrival of the new vehicles, they had been using units loaned by the Foster Coach Sales Co. of Sterling, Ill., from whom the city bought the new ambulances.

Schler announced that the fourth ambulance would be located in West Granite City after city officials received a number of requests from residents and business and industrial representatives who noted that ambulance service in that area would provide life-saving equipment in the event the access to the area was blocked by turns on the roads between West Granite and the downtown area, and would expedite emergency ambulance service.

Alderman Steve Baierstrand Alderman Curtis Blevins, both of the Fifth Ward in which West Granite City is located, told the council they wished to thank the mayor, the council and Fire Department officials for providing an ambulance in that area.

Sam Whitmer, alderman of the Second Ward, said the action "is an indication that the city is willing to take care of the people."

TRUCK TAKEN, LOOTED

The welding truck of Don Arndt, 1000 E. Edwardsville Road, was stolen early Saturday between 3 a.m. and 7:05 a.m. Wednesday, April 5. The truck, a 1975 model, contained welding equipment worth nearly $2,000. It was stolen before the truck was loaded with supplies in St. Louis on Tuesday afternoon. Stolen were the welding unit, a set of welding rods, tanks, torches, tools and a come-along.

The assessment year 1976 is the second year of the transition to equalization. All local units in all counties are required to reach certain target levels.

The target levels are required by law and will bring all counties to 33 1/3 per cent by 1979.

The purpose of the state multiplier is to ensure that, on the average, assessments in the various counties are made at the proper assessment level.

The multiplier is determined by comparing actual sales ratio studies with the department's annual sales ratio studies with the statutory target level.

As required by law, the assessment ratios for the three years immediately preceding the assessment year are used in computing the multiplier. The assessment analysis, therefore, reflects the recent increases in property values.

Although increases in assessments values either through local reassessment or through a higher state assessment multiplier. Since the state can only assign a county-wide multiplier, such internal non-uniformities cannot be directly corrected by the state.

The department is making an all-out effort to reduce the turnaround time in issuing 1976 multipliers.

The tentative multipliers are being computed and certified to the various counties as soon as possible after the supervisor of assessments has submitted a completed tentative abstract of assessments and other necessary data to the department.

Purpose of a tentative multiplier is to inform the County Board of Review of the adjustments which are necessary to bring local assessment levels up to the statutory target level.

The timeliness availability of the state multiplier and the ratio data on which it is based will aid the County Board of Review in its work.

County Boards of Review, in addition to their powers to act on complaints, also are required to equalize assessment levels among various geographic areas or property classes within a county.

If property in certain townships or if certain types of property are not assessed at the statutory target level, the board would assign local multipliers to adjust assessment to the proper levels.

Before such multipliers are applied, they must be published and the affected property owners must be given a chance to be heard.

Do you have a lack of energy? Do you feel tired, even when you've had enough sleep? Have you lost interest in socializing with your friends, in everything? You may be the victim of depression, but you are not alone, according to Raymond Klauber.

Many people feel depressed during the winter months, notes Klauber, staff counseling psychologist at Edwardsville University at Edwardsville. Since this winter was one of the worst in years, depression probably hit a higher number of people harder than ever before, he adds.

Winter months are believed likely to depress people for many reasons, he explains, that often are unable to go outside, becoming cooped up indoors, many times against their will. This winter in particular saw many people cold, jobs and hungry due to fuel shortages and other problems, he says.

Though the fuel situation this winter wasn't enough to dampen people's spirits, Klauber continues, people tend to be more depressed during the winter than any other season, anyway.

This in part, may be due to the cold weather, but he thinks it may be more than that: "It may be that the seasonal changes produce causes for depression. It may not be just the weather."

Winter is considered the most depressing season of the year when nature is stagnant, and people feel stagnant, too. He comments:

"If you are unsure whether or what's bothering him, Klauber will try to help that person get to the bottom of the problem." "People can also feel that they know what is depressing them, but sometimes are misled by their feelings. To illustrate this, you hear what they bring up, but don't know why."

"In some cases, people need to know what's bothering them and many times have to express it."

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

say this. But at the same time, the student could be continually bringing up his unhappy marriage, being unaware that in fact, the real marriage is his depression.

"Depression can be reactive, or a result of something that has happened to an individual."

"Depression and anxiety are two signs that we have to point to something that is wrong," he said. "These signs vary from individual to individual."

"Depression and anxiety are analogous to running a fever. They are like mental thermometers," he explained.

Klauber says he sees many students who come to see him add that although time itself can cure reactive depression, a lot of times people need to "work things out."

Often a depressed individual is one step away from suicide, this is more to life, that there is a better way to live. From this felling spring hope, and perhaps health, it is contended. If a depressed individual comes to Klauber voluntarily and says, "I just don't feel motivated, the fact that he felt motivated enough to go see Klauber is the first step."

Klauber, as part of his therapy, tries to help an unmotivated person, through his manner of speaking to that person and by trying to give examples of what there "is out there" to help become motivated.

Motivation varies from one person to another, since each person is individual as to why he or she is depressed.

"There can be several reasons a person feels depressed. When people feel failure, they get depressed. The answer in this case is to show them they can succeed."

"Spring is possibly their best time for depression."

"Life is better, everything is being reborn," he says. "There is a whole rejuvenation process."

"But, time does not always heal."

"If depression interferes with bodily functions and performance and goes on for more than a short period of time—say a few weeks—it's a good idea to obtain counseling."

Woman hit by car

Mrs. Ruth Schaffner, 53, was struck by a car while walking south across Niederrhaus Avenue near Iowa Street at 7:10 p.m. Monday.

The driver of the westbound auto, John Cox, 37, of 704 Island Ave., Mitchell, was charged with driving while intoxicated after he declined to take a breath test, according to police. He was released after posting $50 bond and his driver's license.

Mrs. Schaffner was taken by city ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for a bruise to her right knee and a cut on the left side of her forehead was sutured. She was transferred at her request to Oliver C. Anderson Hospital, Mayville.

Romans 5:20. . . But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound.

God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son; A great price was paid to rescue us from our God-given sins. The Son of God, who gave the love of God! He seeks for the sinner. He sends His Spirit to draw them to repentance. If there are any who have sinned in the world, he is assured, it is God!

I have heard it said many times, "God is no good. God doesn't want the likes of me. I have sinned so much. He can't love me." Don't let your sins separate you from the love of God. He seeks for the sinner. He sends His Spirit to draw them to repentance. If there are any who have sinned in the world, he is assured, it is God!

Also be assured of this: No matter how great your sins, His grace is greater. His love is boundless. Compare your sins with His grace and see for yourself. Today.

Schools accept challenge for April 17 Walkathon

A challenge has been issued between area junior and senior high schools to discover which school can produce the largest number of walkers and raise the most money in the March of Dimes Walkathon in Granite City on Sunday, April 17.

The challenge was proposed and accepted at a meeting last week of representatives of student councils from North and South High schools and Prather, Coolidge and Grisby junior highs.

Each school set a goal of 200 walkers, each walking for $10 in pledge donations. If achieved, the total contributions would amount to $10,000.

Jack Haug, guidance counselor at Prather JHS and this year's Walkathon chairman, also is seeking increased adult participation in the event.

Haug has issued a personal challenge to service clubs and civic organizations in a letter which seeks their cooperation.

Prather said the walkathon offers an opportunity "to bridge the generation gap," as the young people would see adult participation as "a joint cooperative effort."

He suggested adults could take part by walking with the

This weekend is decisive for crabgrass

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
CHIEF OF STAFF

This weekend is the time to apply crabgrass preventer if you are serious about controlling crabgrass.

Soil temperature is the time clock that regulates the germination of crabgrass seed. When Saucer Magnolias begin to loose their flower petals, the temperature of the soil is high enough to start the germination process of crabgrass seed.

If you have applied a crabgrass preventer in the meantime, the chemical stops the germination process of the seed and eliminates it from your lawn.

If you wait past this critical date, some of the crabgrass seeds germinate and become immune to the effects of the chemical, while slow plows are still affected.

Finally, all the crabgrass will germinate and there will be no effect from the herbicide.

With magnolia bloom this year, if crabgrass is in your neighborhood don't bloom, it's due to the cold weather effect on the buds. But the snow probably protected the crabgrass to insure another good crop.

Tufts of wild onions look like miniature fountains in your lawn while the bluegrass slowly gets underway.

You can remove these scattered clumps by loosening the sod with a shovel and extracting the entire clump.

When you carefully repack the soil with your foot, the roots will hold your lawn to be undisturbed, and the vacant spot will soon disappear.

If your lawn looks like a sea of wild onions, then digging is out of the question. Repeated application of a D.D.T. will gradually destroy the clumps. Start treating within the next few days.

Fertilize in a month. Treated plants are killed but dormant bulbs soon germinate to produce a new clump.

GOVERNMENT APPOINTEES

Gov. James R. Thompson has appointed a 26-year old Springfield woman as acting director of the Illinois Department of Mental Health. Mary Kane has been an analyst in the Bureau of the Budget since 1975. Daniel J. Lenkoski, 31, of LaGrange was appointed assistant director of the Department of Revenue. Gov. Thompson's cabinet appointments are subject to confirmation by the Illinois Senate.

Earn music contest ratings

Students in the Walkathon, or organizers could sponsor an entrant or entrants on a pledge basis of a certain amount of money per mile completed.

The Grisby project chairman said, "We hope groups also can assist by being present at refreshments and prizes for the walkers, or by members acting as judges or serving food and drinks."

The project chairman is asking citizens to indicate their willingness to "get involved" in the Walkathon, either as participants or in other roles, to contact him at Prather Junior High, 876-8656, or Mrs. Wilma Herring, Granite City March of Dimes chairman, at 461-9164.

The Granite City project chairman said, "The Walkathon again will cover a distance of 10 miles, starting April 17 at the Wilson Park rink pavilion."

Checkpoints will be located at St. Margaret Mary Parochial School, where South High School personnel will be stationed; Marshall Grade School, manned by North High School; Lee Avenue near 26th Street; and at Madison and Monroe City houses.

"Granite City has won an award for raising the most money in Madison County for the last several years," Haug said.

Meeting, held at Prather Junior High School, Washington, "McKinley and Logan elementary schools attended," advised Chairman of David Paz, Grisby.

Prather and Tari Hanfeler,

North High School students — Karen Miller and Tom Richards; South High School — Leslie Houser and Brian Beljanis; and Prather—Brook Hill, Suzy Sandall, John Arner, John Morris, Jacqueline Setz, Scott Morton, Keith Ketcher and Haug.

Ensembles winning first place were Kay Herman, Jenna Corzine, Karen Cook, Mike Johnson, Carol Feuer and Linda Box; Janice North, Ann Riggins, Susan Woker, Susan Sandall, Reggie Rodgers, Jeff Kuhn placed second in the ensemble category.

Junior high school students competing in first ratings will take part in state competition on May 7 at Mattoon, Ill.

Washington School students, Paula Chronister and Vicki Smith, placed second. Tom Buechel of McKinley received a first-place award.

Skaters rehearse for Wilson Park exhibition

Advanced skating students this week are practicing for the Granite City Park District's annual "Ice Skating Exhibition," scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Wilson Park rink.

Although no charge is made to view, spectators are required to obtain an admission ticket from skating students, or at the Wilson Park office.

Anyone visiting the rink will find the more advanced level pupils rehearsing their jumps and spins in preparation of the closing-day program.

Preparation is necessary the year, as a special competitive feature is planned in addition to the exhibition skating.

Pam Siefert and Norma Wylie, senior professionals for the Granite City Park District's skating school, have arranged the competition which is open to all students enrolled in the district's classes who have passed the ISIA Gamma Test.

The students are grouped in divisions according to their individual ability, the skating instructors explained.

Five impartial judges, acquainted with the art of figure skating, but unknown to the competitors, will evaluate the performances.

Student competitors and their assigned groups are:

First Test Men: Don Fisher, Glenn Wright, Joe Grimes and Frank Maliszewski; First Test Ladies, Group A - Beth Bodnar, Pattie Bogart, Marsha Fisher, Linda Grebel and Dawn Muskin.

First Test Ladies, Group B - Cindy Grimes, Rita Harrel, Chris Loyet and Shelia Whitt; Second Ladies: Christine Byers, Paula Fisher, Linda Maliszewski, Denise Portell and Gay Wright.

While the scores are being tallied, girls who take private skating lessons will provide the

Lexow, Stahlhut Chouteau Town assessor rivals

CHARLES E. LEXOW

ALBERT STAHLHUT

Charles E. Lexow, 61, of Old Alton Road, is a candidate for assessor of Chouteau Township on the Progressive Party ticket. The current assessor, O. R. Reeves, is retiring.

A property owner and a lifelong resident of Chouteau Township, he attended local schools and the University of Illinois.

Lexow comments, "I will be a full-time assessor, running from the Shell Oil Company and will be available to taxpayers."

"I am tax collector of Chouteau Township, a member of Local 320 of the International Union of Official Engineers, member of the Chouteau Township Officials of Illinois, former director of the Tax Collectors Division, and charter member and former auditor of the Madison County Township Official Association."

Mr. and Mrs. Marguerite and I have two married daughters, Suzanne and Nancy, and one grandson, John Charles.

Lexow adds, "Having been your tax collector, I know a great deal about the value of property, and locations of the subdivisions, industries and farms, land values, also experienced in determining property values, being a former agent for the Hartford Fire Insurance Company for 25 years."

"As an assessor, I would see to it that property taxpayers have a fair and uniform assessment. I intend to hold assessment as low as possible." My work will be both efficient and accurate. I will be conscientious and serve about the assessments, since the property tax places a significant burden on taxpayers, and since the property tax remains the largest source of local revenue."

"I will be patient and courteous with taxpayers who have questions about their assessments."

"I will keep a property record card on each property as a base for explaining to property owners the reasonableness of their assessments."

"I will see that all senior

Albert "Sonny" Stahlhut is the candidate for tax assessor of the Chouteau Citizens Party. He is 50 and resides at 705 Missouri Ave., has been a resident of South Roxana for the past 11 years. He is married to the former Emma Jean O'Neill, a native of South Roxana, and they have one daughter, Dawn, age 10.

Stahlhut is presently serving on the Village Board of Trustees in South Roxana.

He is employed by Olin Corp. in East Alton, and has been a member of Machinist Lodge 660 for the past 11 years. He also has been a sheet metal worker.

The candidate is a member of the Loyal Order of Moose in Wood River. He has lived in Madison County all his life and graduated from Edwardsville High School.

Stahlhut continues, "If elected, I pledge to assess all properties within the township fairly and uniformly."

"I will make myself available to the taxpayers whenever questions arise concerning assessments."

I will keep assessment lists at home as well as at the township office.

Assessments will be concerned about property tax rates and will work diligently to keep them as low as possible. Senior citizens can be assured that I will personally contact them concerning their assessment and will make applications available to them.

"As a village trustee in South Roxana, I am familiar with the handling of taxes and finances. I will expand my experience of local government and apply it to the office of assessor."

"I have the energy, enthusiasm, concern and time needed to fulfill this office in the best manner possible."

Study sewer problem

Trustees of the Metro-East Sanitary District are to meet in the Granite City district offices at 4:30 p.m. today to consider maintenance of a rehabilitated deteriorated trunk line sewer in St. Clair County that could cost the district more than $1 million.

When trustees said they were aware of the bad condition of the line, which extends from Centreville Township to the district's sewage treatment plant in Cahokia, a lack of funds had been cited as immediate work on the project.

Now, they say, they have been informed by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to take immediate steps for repair of the sanitary sewer line or face the possibility of EPA fines.

The notice was given by three trustees — Russell Robinson of Granite City, Leonard Hylton of Madison and John Erhardt of Washington Park — during a special board meeting in Granite City Monday afternoon by three EPA agents who appeared unannounced at the meeting.

Mrs. Helen Christich, chief clerk of the district, said the EPA agents met briefly with the trustees and informed them the condition of the 10-inch sewer line constitutes violations of EPA regulations and that the district is subject to heavy fines unless repairs are made.

The agents told board members they would take no action until the trustees had an opportunity to consider the problem and decide what action they can take. The problem is to be discussed in today's session.

Mr. Christich said that televising of the line and grouting (rescaling of line connections) by contract has been considered as the most likely method of repair. The cost of the repair is estimated at $1 million and the district does not have funds available to do the work.

Repair of the sanitary line also is being requested by the village of Sauget which is expected to sponsor construction of a new secondary sewage treatment plant in the Sauget-Cahokia area.

GIRL STRUCK BY CAR Rochelle Montgomery, 20, of 205 Allen St., Madison, went to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 7:55 p.m. yesterday after she had been in an auto. She suffered pain to her right hip, right side of her back and her left leg. X-rays were taken and she was released.

varsity teams at both high schools, noted he is leaving the district to accept a different position.

Two teachers were allowed to resign their extra-curricular assignments while continuing their regular teaching duties. Mary Lou Howard resigned as fall sports adviser for Prather Junior High School, and Cynthia Blumenstock resigned as adviser of the North Silver Spirit Club. The resignations are effective this fall.

The board granted a leave of absence to Phyllis McMillan, social studies teacher at Prather, and an extension of time to the leaves of absence previously given to Betty Yarbrough and Jeanne Francis.

Barbara Yount, 4498 Vine St., was hired as a substitute crossing guard for Maryville School. She was the only applicant.

The board publicly reaffirmed its policy denying sickness or disability benefits to women employees taking maternity leaves.

The administration informed the board that a court has denied the district's right to dismiss one elementary school teacher, ruling on appeal of the teacher and stating the district failed to prove she was not adequately performing her duties.

The board agreed to appeal the court decision to the Appellate Court in Mount Vernon.

33 precincts in GC vote April 5

A series of requests for permits to hold parades and to sound trucks in connection with the election campaign was approved by the Granite City Council in a regular meeting Tuesday night.

All of the requests were granted with the understanding that parade and sound truck operators would register with the police department and that they be subject to license or permit fees where required.

The aldermen approved a request by Dan Partney, candidate for mayor, to hold a parade on Saturday, April 2, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., requesting the permit, Partney said the parade will form at 25th Street and Ohio Avenue and proceed through various parts of the city. He said he would be willing to meet with the chief of police to discuss details of route and make other arrangements.

Also approved was a request for a permit to operate a sound truck on April 2, 4 and 5 by Mrs.

Valerie Stephens, wife of Roberts Stevens, city clerk and a candidate for re-election.

Richard "Dick" Allen, candidate for Granite City Township supervisor, wanted to maintain permission to operate a sound truck on April 2 and 3, and Woodrow "Woody" Moad, an aldermanic candidate in the Sixth Ward, was granted a permit to operate a sound truck on April 2.

Also granted was a permit to operate a sound truck on April 2 and 3, requested by Gary Kinser of the Sixth Ward. Kinser did not say in his written application what he planned to do with the truck.

In other election-related activity, the aldermen voted to hold its next council meeting at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, April 6, because the regular meeting date falls on election day, April 5. Under its regular schedule of three meetings each month, the Council members also approved a list of polling locations for the April 5 election noting that voters will ballot in 33 local precincts this year. In past years the city has had 31 "city" precincts.

Phone franchise meets new delay

Final approval of a new franchise agreement between Granite City and Illinois Bell Telephone Co. ran into another delay Monday night when City Council members voted to postpone final passage of the franchise ordinance for clarification of one section of the document.

Council members agreed to defer a final passage vote on a suggestion by Alderman Gerald Parmley of the Sixth Ward that the council be certain as to whether or not a section of the agreement referring to company responsibility for relocation of poles or other facilities apply to "easements" as well as to streets and alleys.

The franchise ordinance was introduced by Alderman Ron Poulos, chairman of the franchise ordinance committee who moved to suspend the rules to place the bill on final passage.

Parmley argued, however, that the section of the agreement which the company agrees to move poles or other facilities if relocation is necessary referred only to "streets and alleys" and did not include the word easements," which Parmley noted are different than street and alleys.

Parmley suggested that a second ordinance be prepared in case the bill is given final passage.

Poulos withdrew his motion to rule suspension and voting action was delayed until city officials can discuss the matter with Bell officials.

The proposed franchise agreement was given approval by council members in their March meeting. The franchise agreement is to become official however, until an ordinance is enacted.

Terms of the franchise agreement provide that the city will receive free refunds for phone bills retrospective to Sept. 1. The date on which the city officials contend the old franchise agreement expired. The refunds represent money the city has paid for phone service during the six months the new agreement has been in negotiations.

The bill also grants to the city free phone service that is in credit by 10 per cent in value over services allowed under the old franchise.

The old agreement provided the city with free phone service on 26 lines. Such service has a value of $17,500 per line per month. At present, the city formerly received free phone service valued at $455 per month.

The new franchise, however, provides free phone service for 102 lines for a total monthly service value of $1,784, an increase of $1,300 per month over service provided under the old agreement.

Croatian-Slavic culture kept alive for future generations

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Native costumes and vibrant colors, combined with the sound of melodious string instruments, are helping to keep alive the traditions of the Croatian-Slavic people in the hearts of the younger generation through the Happy Strings Junior Tamburitzans of Madison.

Madison is one of several regions in the United States to which many people from the Balkan and Central European countries emigrated. Now their children and their children's children are firmly established in the community and totally integrated in the American cultural scene.

But the heritage of their ancestors, the Slavs, whom migrated south over the Carpathian Mountains in early Christian times, is being taught through song and dance to perpetuate traditions in the new generation.

These youngsters proudly display their skills, recaptured from an ancient time, to others from different nationalities and backgrounds.

This past occasion happened this week when the Happy Strings performed their fourth annual concert in the auditorium at Granite City High School.

About 350 viewed the concert and more than 600 attended a social activity the same evening at the Croatian Home in Madison, including dancing to traditional music.

The Happy Strings Junior Tamburitzans of Madison is a parent-sponsored organization, dedicated to keeping the Croatian-Slavic culture alive by teaching the younger generation the art of mastering the tambura (an instrument) and acquainting the young people with songs and dances of their heritage.

The organization was formed 11 years ago and has gathered strength, popularity and public support each year of its existence.

Presently, the Junior Tams consists of 15 children and the Tiny Tams has 18 members.

The youngest Happy Strings Tiny Tam is Anne Amisch, 2 years old, and the "oldest" member is Mike Hagnauer, 17.

For the last three years Tom Kelam, a talented musician, has served as the Happy Strings musical director. He has been assisted in recent months by Anton Meyer of St. Louis, who has been working with the Tiny Tams.

"Mr. Kelam spends much of his valuable time writing and arranging the fast-growing repertoire of music presented by the group," Charles Hagnauer, president of the parents' group said.

"We are very fortunate to have this talented and skilled musician," he added.

Mrs. Gloria Garcia of Collinsville, great-grandmother of Neoma, Betty, Ruth, Cecilia, Janie, Masiakiewicz and her mother Mrs. Fannie Masiakiewicz of St. Charles, Mo.

Plans for the annual banquet of Protestant Welfare were completed at the March meeting of the organization held at the Third Baptist Church, last Saturday.

Hugh Foster, first vice-president, presided and reported the dinner will be held April 19 at St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road, at 6:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. Tickets costing $3.85 are available from any member he added.

A baby shower was given this week for the 10-day-old daughter of Mrs. Dan (Christine) Hornberger, of Granite City, by the infant's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Hartman, 70, 1000 Rural Route Two, Granite City.

The baby has been named Dawn Maria and was born on March 9 at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Large pink umbrellas decorated the living room and one was suspended above a cradle, holding gifts. Tiny pink plastic bassinets filled with baby items were given to each of the guests as favors.

A large white cake decorated with pink roses and inscribed with congratulations to the infant and mother was served.

Guests attending were Mrs. Mild Starnum, Mrs. Betty Jean Debra Cooper and her mother Mrs. Cooper, Mary Kay Stoum, Anna Marie Stoum, Mrs. Irene Zimmerman, Sharon Crow, Mrs. Debbie Lemons and of town guests, Mrs. Peggy Edwards of Spanish Lake, Mo.

Mrs. Josephine Knight, Mrs. Thela Faulkner and Mrs. Murline Faulkner all of Glen Carbon.

The new arrival weighed eight pounds, 11 ounces and has been named Stacy Lynn. Her sister is Amy Sue, 4 years.

Mrs. Martin is the former Cindy McKinnon. The parents also celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary on March 20.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Doreen McKinnon and Mr. and Mrs. Melton Martin, all of Granite City.

Mrs. Gloria Garcia of Collinsville is choreographer and has served as teacher of the dancing for the past year.

Many hours of practice are needed to master the steps and musical rhythms and the youthful performers attend rehearsal sessions each Wednesday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock at the Croatian Home.

The Happy Strings have performed numerous times in this area and also in other communities, Hagnauer said.

Information concerning the group may be obtained by calling Hagnauer at 931-3406, or by writing Mrs. Mary Ann Petrunich, secretary, 2349 Clark Ave., Granite City, Ill. 62040.

NANCY BYINGTON
Student by day teacher in evenings

Nancy Jean Byington, an 18-year-old GCHS South senior, spends her free time two days a week at the YMCA, applying her experience as an instructor of belly dancing, gymnastics, and tap and baller dancing to teaching Quad-City area youngsters.

She has been performing the art of belly dancing for the past four years, and has eight years of experience in tap, ballet and gymnastics.

Originally from Tampa, Fla., Miss Byington has lived here intermittently for the past 10 years.

At the age of 16, she opened a studio in Iowa, teaching belly dancing classes. She also gave some public performances.

She taught students here not only receive instruction in belly dancing but are also taught about accompanying music, costumes, makeup and the history of belly dancing.

"Teaching youngsters is more difficult than teaching adults, because an instructor has to perfect holding a youth's attention on the subject matter," she comments.

Even Monday and Wednesday evenings, she conducts classes in belly dancing in two sessions — 7 to 8:30 p.m. for beginners and 8:30 to 10 p.m. for advance students.

An active young woman, Nancy is at the age of seven and during the summer months competes with the Paddlers Club swimming team of Granite City. She has taken scuba diving and inline skating.

With an eye on the future after "graduating" from high school this spring, she plans to return to Florida and enter the work field as a secretary, with possibly part-time belly dancing activities.

Counseling at college

The Belleville Area College Counseling Center is implementing a new program of pre-registration academic advisement for all currently enrolled students. The counseling center will set up an information table outside the college cafeteria beginning Monday, March 28.

Students who answer "no" or "not sure" to one or more of the following questions are being urged to consider counseling: Do you know what courses to register for next semester? Are you enrolled in a baccalaureate-oriented curriculum or a career curriculum?

Are you planning to transfer to a four-year college or university? Do you expect to graduate next semester? Are you meeting all the necessary requirements for graduation?

Frank Gorick, director of counseling, said, "Although pre-registration will simplify registering for classes, students should still consult a counselor."

Pre-registration begins on April 25. Currently enrolled students will receive class schedules in the mail. For a counseling appointment, Quad-Cities may call 235-2700, extension 206.

Music workshops during River Fest

An expanded series of workshops, including a five-day session on producing the high school musical, will be featured in the Summer Music Institute, scheduled to take part in the 1977 Mississippi River Festival.

The festival summer concert method relates to violin playing and of ten is taught to primary students.

A Kodaly-elementary music education workshop, offered June 13 through 16, will be directed by Johnetta Haley, assistant professor of music at SIUE, and Stephen Jay, president of the Organization of American Kodaly Educators, as guest clinician.

Nolan Dennis, director of dance at the St. Louis Conservatory of Music, will conduct a June 20-24 session on modern movement for young children with Susan Wells of the music department.

A creative drama workshop will begin June 20 and run until July 1, directed by Sylvia Kluth, a member of the theater and dance faculty at SIUE and Fleischman Valley Community College. Running concurrently with the drama workshop will be a readers' theater workshop, directed by Marian Kleinau of the SIUE English Department.

Leonard Van Camp, professor of music at SIUE, will direct a choral conducting workshop July 6-10. "Producing the high school musical," scheduled for June 10-14, will be directed by Vicki Holt, MRP arts administrator.

A workshop on marching band techniques, July 11-22, will be co-directed by two members of the SIUE faculty—Donald Loucks, assistant professor of music, and Carl St. Clair, instructor of music.

On July 18-22, a workshop on vocal pedagogy and literature will be directed by Sarah Turner, assistant professor of music at SIUE. Ronald Thomas, chairman of the department of music of Virginia Commonwealth University, will direct a workshop on the comprehensive music teacher.

Those interested in enrolling in the workshops for credit may do so for a fee of $75, and credit can be granted through SIUE or the music conservatory. The workshop enrollment is waived for those taking the workshops for credit.

The final two workshops are a four-day piano literature session, starting Aug. 2, directed by SIUE Professor of Music, and a vocal pedagogy workshop. The latter will be co-directed by Rico Serbo, visiting lecturer in the SIUE Department of music, and his wife, Carol Kirkpatrick, artist-in-residence at Arizona State University.

Early registration is being advised because enrollments will be limited.

More information and application forms are available from Lois Linton, Mississippi River Festival, Box 150, SIUE, Edwardsville 62262.

Steele backing taxpayer rights'

State Rep. Everett G. Steele (R-Glen Carbon) has co-sponsored a resolution that he says ultimately seeks to curb "state government's insatiable appetite for tax dollars" by placing limits on Illinois' spending power.

The resolution calls for a referendum to amend the 1970 Illinois Constitution by setting aside a fixed percentage of state's total income in Illinois.

Under this amendment, state spending could not increase at a faster rate than the state's growth in revenues, he said. All state taxes would be covered by the proposal, including sales, income, gasoline and cigarette taxes.

"It's time that those who pay the taxes have a strong voice in how far state government's growing tax hand can reach into their pockets," Rep. Steele said.

"This constitutional amendment is a taxpayers' rights amendment that puts the people's way of telling government that it's got to spend those revenues it receives wisely, because unless an emergency situation arises, it's getting no more."

Steele cited figures that he says indicate state's waste of money in Illinois.

Under this amendment, state spending could not increase at a faster rate than the state's growth in revenues, he said. All state taxes would be covered by the proposal, including sales, income, gasoline and cigarette taxes.

"Revenue experts tell us that if these trends continue by 1986 that $10 billion will be spent every year."

"It's clear that the situation is out of control at present. It's time that the taxpayer was given more control over the situation, which suits taxpayer rights amendment, the taxpayer, not the tax spender, will have that control."

Rep. Steele said another benefit of the amendment would be that it would limit the General Assembly from mandating programs on local governments because the state could have to provide the funds to meet the costs of its mandates.

Concluded, "Government has got to learn that it can't keep running to the taxpayers every year it wants to fund a new program."

"This amendment would make great strides toward teaching government in Illinois that it must return to spending wisely and subject its spending policies to the normal rate of growth of its income."

PLANT STARTERS or "rooters," as they are called by company personnel, are assembled by members of GEMCO, an American Steel Foundries-sponsored company in Junior Achievement. The "rooters" are made of small glass balls attached to wood bases and are for starting new

SIUE is called 4th biggest area employer

With a work force of more than 2,100 faculty, staff and students, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has become the fourth largest employer in the Illinois part of the St. Louis area, according to University President Kenneth A. Shaw.

Speaking to the Edwardsville Area Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting Monday night, he cited the impact of the university on growth and development of the region.

"Last year, we operated on a total budget of $30.5 million, with more than $24 million being pumped into the regional economy in wages and salaries," Dr. Shaw said. "There are many services and goods purchased out of these monies."

He said the impact is even greater than the figures indicate because, for every dollar spent by the university, another $12.2 is generated in the area economy. For every job at the university, another half-job is created in the community, he estimated.

"SIUE is a pretty big business, if nothing else," Shaw said, but the president emphasized that "we are more than just a formidable enterprise."

Citing the role of the university in training leaders, the president said, "An educated work force is constantly sharpening its skills, thereby increasing productivity.

"Further, education brings to the individual human spirit larger perspectives, generating an awareness that today no man can be truly island unto himself. With education, this desire to contribute to the improvement of the community can be better directed."

Shaw said it is his hope to make the university the best of its kind — "the best place to learn and pay — for the best, we can produce citizens able to cope with the increasingly complex demands and pressures of a large society in a highly effective manner." Our region needs such citizens, and I promise you to do my best to build a resource that will give them to you."

The SIUE president emphasized that a strong, productive commercial and industrial base is essential to healthy development of the region. He said business and industry recognize the need for labor force to be capable, paid with technological development and improved management and production techniques.

Shaw also emphasized that education and resources must stay geared to meet these needs." Shaw said, "If we provide more skillful workers and managers, we keep abreast of the fierce competition.

In regard to the dental school,

"If anyone thinks that we should remain satisfied with the way things are right now, he is simply not living in the world of economic or social reality."

The president said the university will seek to provide a continuing rapport with business through dealings with the faculty acting as consultants, and especially through student internships.

He said the internships help the university keep aware of what is happening in the world — for the best, we can produce citizens able to cope with the increasingly complex demands and pressures of a large society in a highly effective manner."

Pointing to specific ways and the local university can contribute directly to improving the quality of life in the region, Shaw cited the Environmental Resources Training Center, which trains operators for sewage treatment plants; the Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services, which attacks all sorts of community problems.

The dental clinic of the School of Dental Medicine, which assists with the region's health care, and the Health Care Program, which is exploring new ways to help older citizens "live out their days in dignity and comfort" along with many discovering new ways to be more fully alive and continuing to be productive."

Dr. Shaw said the community can assist by working with organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce, "dedicated to striving for full employment and the welfare of life for everyone. A community where everyone is prosperously at work is not likely to have too much about crime."

Dr. Shaw said research is underway to explore the possibility of immunization against dental decay. "Just imagine," he said, "what that might eliminate cavities."

The president also praised the Mississippi River Festival.

Acknowledging problems as well as economic benefits to the area as a result of the Festival, Shaw said, "We are well aware of the problems and have an obligation to eliminate any nuisance to our neighbors from our programming."

Continuing on the MRF, Shaw said people from all over the St. Louis metropolitan area are attracted to the SIUE campus.

"While they are enjoying themselves and enriching themselves, they also leave some money behind," he said. "We are very fortunate, especially in the case of some of our friends in Missouri who don't fully appreciate the value of our area, they are exposed to our fine culture."

Dr. Shaw said the community can assist by working with organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce, "dedicated to striving for full employment and the welfare of life for everyone. A community where everyone is prosperously at work is not likely to have too much about crime."

he said.

Urging cooperation to continue the revitalization of the region, Shaw said, "Working together we can quickly capture the imagination and the region have made spectacular strides; let's continue to forge a warm bond of friendship that will lead us all to greater things."

State budget pleases some

By MAURICE W. SCOTT
Executive Vice President
Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

The state budget for fiscal year 1978 (July 1, 1977 to July 1, 1978), presented to the General Assembly by Gov. James R. Thompson on March 2, is sound and follows principles of fiscal responsibility.

The budget calls for approximately $10,047,000,000 for fiscal 1978, down $70 million from the current fiscal 1977 budget.

In his budget message, the governor projects growth in state revenue from current taxes at $426,000,000 and only to spend $311,000,000 therefrom.

This is sound advice at this time as it would allow the general revenue fund to recuperate somewhat and have funds on hand at all times to meet the cash flow demand and to pay state obligations.

There will be honest differences of opinion as to what the balance in this fund will be on July 1, 1977. The governor projects $48,000,000 at this time, and we agree with this figure.

If the balance is greater than there is plenty of time in May and June to make adjustments accordingly.

The budget will go to the Madison Lions Club will sponsor a pancake and sausage dinner on Saturday, April 3, at the Madison Post Office, 100 W. Madison Street and Lee streets, Madison.

"While they are enjoying themselves and enriching themselves, they also leave some money behind," he said. "We are very fortunate, especially in the case of some of our friends in Missouri who don't fully appreciate the value of our area, they are exposed to our fine culture."

Dr. Shaw said the community can assist by working with organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce, "dedicated to striving for full employment and the welfare of life for everyone. A community where everyone is prosperously at work is not likely to have too much about crime."

In regard to the dental school,

Dr. Shaw said research is underway to explore the possibility of immunization against dental decay. "Just imagine," he said, "what that might eliminate cavities."

The president also praised the Mississippi River Festival.

Acknowledging problems as well as economic benefits to the area as a result of the Festival, Shaw said, "We are well aware of the problems and have an obligation to eliminate any nuisance to our neighbors from our programming."

Continuing on the MRF, Shaw said people from all over the St. Louis metropolitan area are attracted to the SIUE campus.

"While they are enjoying themselves and enriching themselves, they also leave some money behind," he said. "We are very fortunate, especially in the case of some of our friends in Missouri who don't fully appreciate the value of our area, they are exposed to our fine culture."

Initiative power proposed

The Coalition for Political Honesty and a bipartisan group of state senators and representatives are backing a constitutional amendment that would give Illinois citizens the power of initiative.

The proposal, called the Illinois Initiative, was filed Tuesday in both the Illinois House and Senate. Chief co-sponsors include Rep. Harold R. Johnson, D-Chicago, Rep. Lee Daniel, R-Ellinwood, Rep. Vince DeMuro (D-Carlinville), Sen. William Morris (D-Waukegan), Sen. Prescott Bloom (R-Bloomington), Sen. Roger Schaeffer, R-Chicago, and Rep. Joe E. Lucas (D-Edwardsville).

It would give citizens the power to propose laws by petition. Voters would then either accept these proposals by referendum at a primary or general election.

Patrick Quinn, Coalition spokesman, said, "We hope to make the Illinois Initiative the single most important issue in the months ahead for you to come." He said the initiative process has not been debated in the Illinois General Assembly since 1920.

A former aide to former Gov. George Daniel Winter, Quinn said, "Average citizens need the initiative process to protect their interests against organized special interests that strongly influence the state legislature."

Illinois voters should no longer have to watch helplessly

Bell regulation, others' freedom seen as threat to telephone service

Long-range communications policies were urged Monday by the American Telephone and Telegraph board chairman, John DeBute, testifying before the U.S. Senate Committee on Science and Transportation. Subcommittees on Communications.

"Three principles — accuracy, universality and systemic integrity — are largely responsible for the low cost, widely available and reliable service offered telecommunications customers in our country today," DeBute asserted.

"They emerged from experience and the perceptions of regulators and industry leaders, an evolution culminated by the Communications Act of 1969, which confirmed universal low-cost service as the aim of the industry."

"The common understandings under which the industry sought to fulfill its obligations have been shattered by Federal Communications Commission decisions that sponsor "competition" in selected areas of the industry — the inter-city private line segment and the rural line segment and the service of terminal equipment."

"This so-called competition compromises the three industry principles — fragmenting quality for service, encouraging wasteful duplication of facilities and, most importantly, by transforming a pricing structure that has served our regulators have developed to help keep the charges for basic residence service as low as possible."

"On the average, we collect approximately a month as a basic charge to the home telephone user."

"But the cost to us of providing the sort of service line that is used not only for local service but for long-distance as well) is about $16 a month."

"A substantial portion of the $7 difference is made up by long-distance revenues."

"Ironically, we're most vulnerable to competition in the long-distance segment of the business."

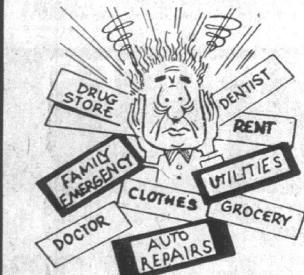

"If its contributions to common costs erode as a result, charges for residence service will have to be increased to make up for the loss of support. We believe it would threaten our ability to compete if the same ground rules apply."

"But, we have been subject to procedural delays in our private line inter-city offerings while our foreign competitors have not been."

"In the supply of terminal equipment, our rate filings are subject to review by our regulators and the possible introduction of foreign competitors in those review hearings. Our competitors, on the other hand, are not so subject."

He added, "the telecommunications network should continue to be safeguarded against potential harm from the

Lambda state convention set

Members of the Madison County Beta Eta, Alpha Eta, and Gamma Epsilon Chapters of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, an honor society for women teachers, are putting the finishing touches on their contributions for the Lambda (Illinois) State convention to be held this weekend at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn in St. Louis.

One of the highlights for the area chapters will be the installation of Mrs. Josephine O'Neil, a member of Beta Eta Chapter, as state first vice-president. Mrs. O'Neil, who resides in Edwardsville, teaches the sixth grade at Columbus School.

She received her B.S. from Stouffer College and her A.B. from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Her professional activities and hobbies include life membership in National Education Association, Illinois Education Association, Education Association, International Reading Association and Madison-St. Clair County Reading Association. Mrs. O'Neil named a "Most Outstanding Elementary Teacher of America" is a past president and secretary of the Edwardsville Education Association. She has served as secretary of Uniserve District 35, was a member of Dr. Michael Bakalis' Southwest Regional Council and is serving on Dr. George Gandy's Southwest Regional Council.

Community activities include membership in the American Association of University Women, Daughters of American Revolution, and the American Legion Auxiliaries, and she has served each of these organizations as president.

As a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, she has served Beta Eta in numerous capacities, including president, and recording secretary and is currently serving as state second vice-president, with other state officers and chairmen formerly being held.

Mrs. O'Neil has one daughter and two granddaughters. Both her daughter-in-law are doctors.

Friday night's opening session members from all three local chapters will present a musical program. The general coordinator for the program, Mrs. Audrey Deeren, Beta Eta member from Troy, has worked in conjunction with Mrs. Valerie Stevens, Beta Eta Grand Chapter, who is the state music chairman. The program will be presented in era starting with the 1904 "Come to the Fair." The program will also include one involving the introduction of two new foods, the hot dog and the ice cream cone, which occurred at the 1904 Fair. The Muny Opera and the zoo will be featured in numbers using the songs of the "Indian Love Call" and "The Aida Daba Honeymoon."

A brief melodrama skit and a barbershop quartet are also on the program. Some of the early programs, such as that which occurred in St. Louis will be alluded to by the Olympic "runner."

Two dance numbers have been choreographed and rehearsed by Mrs. Sara Caron, who is the dance director and dance instructor in the physical education department at SIUE. Narrating the program is Mrs. Birdine Grosong, Beta Eta, of East Alton.

Presidents of the Madison County chapters are Mrs. Martha Moonaw, Alpha Eta; Mrs. Dorothy Roe, Gamma Epsilon; and Mrs. Virginia Oram, Beta Eta.

GC pastors to exchange pulpits

St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road, pastored by the Rev. Dr. Paul Surber and Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, whose minister is the Rev. Dennis Rutledge, will hold a pulpit exchange on Sunday, March 27, according to both pastors.

In the message to be given by the respective pastors, the attempt will be made to present the identical message, "the roots" of the two national bodies.

The exchange of ministers Sunday is scheduled to precede other activities of both congregations. In response to the news release that the Disciples of Christ and the United Church of Christ are considering the possibility of union.

The exchange of ideas, as well as becoming better acquainted, St. John's Church has extended an invitation to the members of Central Christian Church to worship together on Maundy Thursday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m. in St. John's sanctuary.

In responding in the same spirit, Central Christian Church has invited members of St. John's to a special presentation of Pentecost on Sunday, May 29.

Both pastors will explain the origin, doctrines, policies and practices of his respective background at both Sunday services at each church.

Driver faces two charges

Police officers on patrol at 10:25 p.m. Monday night flagged down a woman, Thomas, 2181 Harrison St., who said her auto had just been struck by a hit-and-run motorist at Madison Avenue and North Main Road.

Another squad car already had stopped a vehicle in the parking lot of Mr. Donut, 3134 Nameoki Road, and officers were questioning the driver.

Police alleged the driver used abusive language and refused to get out of his car. Force had to be used to restrain him and the auto was put in a squad car.

Later when he was transferred to another squad car, he allegedly kicked Patrolman Robert Moske, Jody Maxfield, Bradley Gauen, Robert Conreau, Richard Willaredt, Michael Fitzgerald, Andrew Bartling and Albert Wozniak.

He was taken to the Granite City police station where he again allegedly acted in an unruly manner and had to be forced into a jail cell.

Police charged Brian K. Crippen, 18, of 3232 Johnson Road, with leaving the scene of an accident and with resisting arrest.

Comment and analysis

Price, Thompson, other officials—Failure to build new airport would reduce quality, quantity of service in region and cause shifts to Kansas City, other cities

Following are excerpts from a commentary by six Illinoisans to U.S. Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, who has said he will rule this month on former Secretary William Coleman's authorization of a major St. Louis area airport in Illinois. The authors are Governor James D. Thompson, Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal, Senators Charles H. Percy and Adlai E. Stevenson and Congressmen Melvin Price and Paul Simon.

We submit that Secretary Coleman's Sept. 1, 1976, decision was an act of responsible decision making which properly concluded an unprecedented seven-year history of administrative inquiry and study of the matter.

Given this history, to reopen the issue at this time would be a grave error. Most important, as the brief summarizes, is the submitting herewith demonstrating that decision is clearly correct on the facts and merits prompt reaffirmance.

The most important element in the St. Louis airport decision is that Lambert Field, a 2,000-acre facility first constructed in 1920, is simply not adequate to meet anticipated demand. Although Lambert can serve current demand with unreasonably delays, it is nearing the capacity of its runway system as well as its internal roadway system.

Unreasonable aircraft delays and also severe automobile congestion will occur during the 1980s unless some solution is found. Significantly, this is a fact upon which all parties are in full agreement.

With significant advances in air traffic control technology, even an expanded Lambert runway system will be inadequate to handle the needs of the St. Louis region. Moreover, even considering the potential impact of new air traffic control technologies, Lambert will still not have adequate capacity to meet the estimated peak hour demand estimated in the 1990s.

Most significantly, recent Missouri suggestions that general aviation might be diverted from Lambert—the secretary's conclusion already assumed in general aviation operations. Thus, even assuming successful implementation of each of the uncertain elements of the Parsons Master Plan, Lambert would remain, as noted by Secretary Coleman, a marginal facility, particularly when compared with the ample capacity and capability of future expansion available at Columbia-Waterloo.

Continuation of air carrier operations at Lambert will lead to an increase in the number of people in the region from 30 and 40 NEF noise contours to 100 in 1988, based on 1970 population levels. By contrast, there will be no persons within the 40 NEF contour at Columbia-Waterloo and only 2,200 persons in the 30-NEF contour.

The deficiencies of Lambert are magnified when compared with the advantages of Columbia-Waterloo, which is unique as a desirable airport site in an acceptable but undeveloped quadrant of the metropolitan area.

The current "proposal" by Missouri involves a combination of (1) conventional improvements as suggested in the Parsons Master Plan, with all their attendant expense; (2) the implementation of yet-unrealized aviation and noise control technologies; (3) a total ban on general aviation, and its replacement by a limited set of "agricultural landing strips" and similar facilities; and (4) peak hour quotas and pricing mechanisms that would artificially restrict peak hour demands.

Missouri fails, however, to recognize the severe dislocation caused by these "improvements"; the radical departure they represent from the usage patterns of the region are certainly traditional and expected by American air passengers and carriers; the substantial uncertainties associated with technological advances; and the fact that, in any event, an expenditure of funds would be required at Lambert, which would be great as that needed to develop Columbia-Waterloo.

Nothing in any of the studies on which Missouri relies even considers the practicalities of diverting all general aviation to Lambert, let alone the feasibility of such a solution before revising his decision.

Even if transfers were not to occur until 1995 or thereafter, this time frame is entirely reasonable, given the time established by Secretary Coleman (transfer to take place "not before Jan. 1, 1992" unless earlier transfer is authorized by a two-state authority).

The exact timing of transfer will be determined by the secretary's decision, necessarily be determined by the then existing conditions. Quibbling now over which year the option to transfer date can hardly be a basis for deferring land acquisition.

Missouri has repeatedly contended that given the "usual" time frame for construction of a new airport of approximately 10 years, land acquisition now is in any case premature.

It must be recognized, however, that estimates of the "usual" time for airport construction are extremely inapplicable, since (1) the time frame for fast construction—such as for Post-Fort Worth—is substantially extended given the increasing complexity of additional statutory and regulatory requirements, (2) steps toward development may well be slowed by the determined efforts of some Missouri politicians, who have voted to oppose any site in Illinois, and (3) given the history of seven years of administrative delay before the secretary's decision and the continuing controversy since that time, it should be clear that the time frame for development of an airport at Columbia-Waterloo is anything but "usual."

Lamont acquisition now is thus not, as Missouri interests have contend, "land banking" for a distant and uncertain future need, but the first step in fulfillment of a demonstrated need within an orderly and secure time frame for development.

The conclusion of the Fromm & Swan study is that only if the additional uncertainties of a total diversion of general aviation and peak-hour flights and quotas are added to the uncertainties of new technology and constrained general aviation, Lambert might meet anticipated demand.

This study only emphasizes the correctness of Sec. Coleman's decision that the uncertainties as to Lambert's future are too great, particularly given the unique advantages of Columbia-Waterloo, and that approval of land acquisition now is the only prudent alternative.

It is also clear that Missouri's recent proposal, if adopted in 1988, based on 1970 population levels. By contrast, there will be no persons within the 40 NEF contour at Columbia-Waterloo and only 2,200 persons in the 30-NEF contour.

Sewers badly needed in Nameoki Township

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on the upcoming election in Nameoki Township. There are many people who feel we don't need "continued action," but improved action.

The part that we are working on a part that we can use, is not when it takes man-hours and money away from a more important project, sewers.

We in Nameoki Township pay $4 a month toward a sewer fund. From a personal appearance and three phone calls, I can't find out what they are doing with it or where it's at. People are passive about it.

What are people in Quiet Valley supposed to do, use clothees on our noses another summer and possibly another five years before we get a sewer system?

I invite Mr. Whitsell and Mr. Davis, supervisor candidates, to come over and enjoy the smell with us.

Event for elderly, disabled to offer free entertainment

A final invitation is being extended to senior citizens and disabled veterans to attend a free night of entertainment beginning at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Long Lake fire hall on Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach, by Freeman Clinard, chairman of a citizens group making arrangements for the event.

Entertainment and refreshments will be offered during the event and free bus service is being donated by those who need transportation.

It is anticipated more than 350 senior citizens, disabled veterans and their friends will attend the night of free entertainment made possible through donations by business men, political candidates and concerned citizens.

"We pledge there will be no political speeches; simply entertainment we hope will be to the liking of those attending," Clinard said.

Panel to study administration of personnel

The appointment of a working committee to design and conduct evaluations of personnel administration in Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been announced by President Kenneth A. Shaw.

The committee consists of Ralph W. Ruppner, senior vice-president for planning; an review; Edward J. Harrick, associate professor of management; School of Business; and A. Ray Helsel, associate professor of educational administration and supervision in the School of Education.

Dr. Shaw has announced the start of operations of the University's Personnel Administration, a temporary unit established in March 1976 and headed by Warren Joseph, assistant vice-president for University Personnel Administration.

The president said the Personnel Administration unit is being suspended pending results of the evaluation to be conducted by the new committee. During the year, each vice-president will be responsible for personnel administration in his area.

The senior vice-president for planning and review also will be the personnel director of Civil Service, and will carry out other central personnel functions as required, Shaw said.

The president has announced that Joseph will be reassigned to the Office of Vice-President and Provost for the period March 21 - June 30 and, effective in the fall quarter, will be assigned to the School of Fine Arts and Media Communications, where he is a professor in the department of music.

The evaluation to be conducted will cover function, structure, operations and personnel.

The committee will consult, on a frequent and regular basis, with Steven Sanders, president of the University Senate, and John Ulrich, chairman of the Faculty Academic Employees Advisory Council, "in order to keep their respective constituency groups informed regarding the progress of the evaluation and to elicit the ongoing assistance of their groups in the evaluation."

Pres. Shaw said the final evaluation report will be submitted to all constituency groups for review and development of recommendations to the president, with the final target date for completion of the evaluation to be no later than the end of the spring quarter this year.

Plans are to conclude the evening with a free meal. "We plan to go later if everyone is having a good time and wants to continue."

Several buses have been reserved for the evening by churches and organizations and Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary has leased two Vandalia Bus Lines buses for the evening. The smaller buses will make house-to-house pickups available to the elderly and disabled in the Pontoon Beach, Mitchell and Stallings areas and pickups can be arranged by calling the Pontoon Beach police at 931-0738.

Clinard emphasized that the event is open to the general public and persons need not belong to a senior citizens' or veterans' organization to attend.
